About PMI

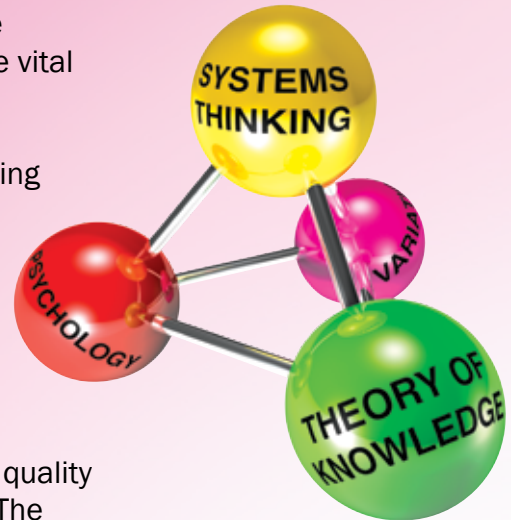

Process Management International

We are different. Our people believe in and love what they do. We recognise that technical skills are only part of the requirement for success, our fundamental principles are based on the work of Dr W.Edwards Deming. The PMI method encompasses the essential change management and leadership skills which are vital if business improvement is to succeed.

Our customers are long term, some dating back to our founding days, and we are proud of these relationships growing over the years. We've worked with clients in virtually every arena, from making efficiency savings through to improving customer satisfaction and most things in between.

We are the Lean Six Sigma partner of the Chartered Quality Institute. Together we operate the UK's leading Lean and Six Sigma public training business. The CQI is the world's oldest quality body and a leading authority on progress and development. The power of our combined experience forms the essence of all our training programmes, enabling you to achieve rapid, effective and permanent results.
